A COMISARIO'S REPORT.

Mr. Finoquetto's report on the Welsh colony of Chupat has been published at last, and certainly nobody can give much credit to the 'Comisario' for any attempt to produce a voluminous statement of affairs in the colony; the cut and dry style of the report in question is limited to the description of plain facts, which give an accurate idea of the material wealth and advance of this distant Welsh settlement.

The Welsh colony of Chupat has been a success, owing to the well-known persevering efforts of the colonists, and to the help tendered by the National Government during many disastrous years. The colony was started in a most inhospitable spot and at a period when the National Government possessed better lands, situated near the capital of the Republic. Why the Government chose Chupat is an enigma, as the Rio Negro would have suited the purpose much better.

The limits of the colony are already becoming too small for the great expansion occasioned by the large harvests of late years, and there is no longer any room for many more colonists. Welshmen have found their way, owing to this fact, to the banks of the Rio Negro, where several families are thriving and becoming wealthy. The National Government should keep several leagues apart on the Rio Negro for all future Welsh arrivals, as land thereabouts is falling rapidly into the hands of speculators and of officers of the army, who buy with no intention of improving the land, but with a view of selling at a profit.

There are at present in the Chupat colony 266 families, comprising 1286 inhabitants. Of these 750 are men and the remainder women. The colonists live in two villages, Rawson and Gaiman, which possess nine chapels and three Welsh schools. One hundred and twenty children attend the Welsh schools whilst only 25 or 30 go to the National school. It is expected that the National school will soon be more crowded, as a Welsh teacher has been incorporated by the Government with same, last month. This appointment will remove many of the arguments that supported the unwillingness of the colonists to send their children to a school where they only learned Spanish and the Welsh language was totally ignored. This reluctance of the colonists to send their children to the native school is the real cause of all the dissensions in the colony, and it is to be hoped that with the new arrangement matters will progress more satisfactorily henceforward. The Comisario's report gives an interesting summary of the implements and stock in the colony which we intend reproducing in our next issue.

Under the very ominous heading of "crimes" the Comisario gives the following statement :—

Sedition against the National authority.
One suicide
Two fights with slight wounds.
Two robberies.
Six "escandalos."

The most henious 'crime' of all is the first, embodying nothing less than a subversive spirit that threatened to sap the foundations of authority and to upset the 'Comisario's high official dignity. It must be always borne in mind that the power and influence of subaltern authorities in the Argentine Republic follow a mathematical law of intensity, increasing according to the square of the distance from the seat of central Government. Those who are acquainted with the many vicissitudes inherent to life on far out camps will be able to appreciate the dangerous nature of any individual or collective act likely to dim the lustre of dignity that surrounds a justice of the peace. Comisario Finoquetto must acknowledge that there is no more peaceable and less criminal settlement in the country than the Welsh colony; there is in fact no crime in the colony, and the Comisario might have shewn more tact by classifying offences as offences, and not as crimes, in his report. His statement of offences in the colony is the very best compliment he could pay to the honest and law-abiding Welshmen, whose faults lean to virtue's side and form a striking contrast with the defects of the heterogeneous elements that comprise this prosperous republic.

LONDON LETTER

(From our Own Correspondent.)

GOSSIP.

5838 carcases of sheep arrived last week in London in the steamship Sorento, from New Zealand. The freezing machinery was that of Hick, Hargreaves and Co., of Bolton. The meat was in splendid condition, as red as rubies, and as sweet as a maiden's breath, and was bought largely, even by West End butchers; the latter fact proves that the British public is maturing into that state of mind favourable to the prospects of the first shipment of mutton from Colonia, to which we are looking forward. For your special information, the sheep killed for the Sorrento's cargo were crossbred and a few Southdowns. I send you a full and interesting account of the shipment from this morning's Daily News. You will see how these things are managed in New Zealand.

From the subject of New Zealand shipments of meat we fall, by an easy transition, into a gossip about actresses, their loves, marriages and divorces. Who does not know Miss Florence St. John—before and behind the curtain? To the general public she is a young and charming singer, who created "Olivette." To those who know her better, she is a Mrs. James, and to a Mrs. Laura Duplany she is very much in the light of a Mrs. Marius, M. Marius, the actor, being in private life Mr. Marius Duplany. Hence, as is clear as daylight, the divorce suit yesterday before Sir James Hannen, Duplany, wife, v. Duplany, husband. The wife got her decree nisi, on the plea of desertion and the other thing; but, I confess, as an outsider, I have always understood that besides desertion and the rest of it, there should be added "cruelty," to make the suit good. It does not appear so, for M. Marius, alias Mr. Duplany, through whose misconduct Miss Florence St. John, alias Mrs. James, had been previously divorced from her husband, had kept up an establishment for his wife and her little daughter, but had not troubled her with his society, he being more at home in St. John's Wood, at the residence of the quondam Mrs. James. When his poor wife used to walk past the house he would kindly come out and tell her that she was wasting her time and shoeleather if her object was to know where and with whom he resided. He made no mystery of the affair, and his frankness probably facilitated the decree nisi. Mrs. Duplany was a Miss Garish, also an actress. She was married to Duplany in 1873, at the age of 18. Her husband was 24. The child was born in 1876. In 1880, when her husband was acting at the Avenue Theatre, there was a "Miss Florence Smith" engaged in the performances, with whom the respondent frequently returned from the theatre, as she lived in the same district as the Duplanys. It is to be presumed that "Miss Smith" subsequently rose to the rank of a "Miss St. John," with whom the man "Marius" or Duplany continued the practice of "seeing her home." Much mischief before now has come of that innocent proceeding, although it was nothing new to Mrs. James.

Billiard-players will be interested in the match which finished the night before last between the champion Cook and W. Mitchell, a Sheffield man, who has been rising lately into eminence in his profession. He is known to have made on more than one occasion 2,000 off the balls. In the match the game was 3,000, and Mitchell won by no less than 1,639 points. He is very great on "spots." His last break in the game was 487, with 169 spots. The match commenced at St. James's Hall on Tuesday last.

You will have seen, of course, that up to the latest match in Australia the English cricket team, under the captaincy of the Hon. Ivo Bligh, has thoroughly avenged the defeat of the old country by the Murdoch lot at home. It only shows that, as in most other things, the secret is the continually playing together. A scratch team, however good individually, has no chance. An Australian gentleman makes the apparently singular but in reality natural complaint to me, that we don't make any fuss about our cricket victories in Australia. He thinks it will do the "kangaroos" good and take the brag out of them. But it is only small countries, and young countries, who are sensitive on these little points of rivalry. An Englishman has so much self-esteem he does not care two dots whether he beats or is beaten, and on that very account he very often is beaten—at first.

The daughter of a Liverpool merchant has eloped with her father's groom. The young people, both under twenty, were, as is too usual, in the habit of riding out together, and, doubtless, the young lady, after the exercise of a gallop on a warm summer afternoon would feel the want of some one to talk to, and would call John to tighten her girths. They are now in the south of France, and papa very properly says they must stay there. Some years ago I remember a similar case in the same city. I knew the girl well; she was a silent, pouting beauty, and one of the loveliest creatures I ever saw. A young fellow, cautious and yet fascinating, had been spooning with her for two years without proposing. The girl, in desperation, went off with a cad of a boy. When overtaken by the father's vehicle the lad said—"Well, Sir, a ten pound note would be of more value to me than the girl." It was too late; and for such wretches, even in a higher rank, will a well-bred girl often sacrifices herself and her friends—and sometimes for a Grenadier B Company, and not necessarily a "private Willis." By the way, the man who plays Private Willis in "Iolanthe" is a gentleman, a young Irishman, of good family, all of whom, the male portion at least, are over six feet in height. In such well-grown families, that is very often the full extent of their qualifications.

Many young men in Buenos Aires will be glad to hear that there is an army in course of formation; it is called the "Violet Ribbon Army." It is intended to reach these classes who are not of the "gutter," and in the habit of making beasts of themselves, but who do take what they call "nips." The violet ribbon" is death on gin cocktails.

Now let us go to theology and grave subjects.

In a pastoral letter, bearing the title "The Basis of Catholic Politics," the Roman Catholic Bishop of Salford says—"The doctrines of Socialism are the outcome of Satan's teaching. They are such as these: all men have an equal title to share equally in the land and in the capital of the country; the possession by any man of an acre of land is a robbery of the community; property is theft; men may lawfully band together in secret or open associations to carry out these and similar theories. Terrorism, incendiarism, violence and murder are lawful weapons whenever it is judged that they will advance the cause of Socialism."

The Nairn Free Presbytery yesterday adopted an overture to the General Assembly denouncing the introduction of instrumental music in the church, on the ground that it was "unscriptural and sinful." The Rev. Mr. Cameron said it had become a question with him whether he could remain a minister of the Free Church if instrumental music were sanctioned.

PARIS LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

February 19th

Richard Wager, like several other celebrities, came to France when a youth to fortune and to fame unknown, to win the suffrages of Parisians, generally regarded as a "hall mark." He produced his 'Tannhauser' in March 1861; except the overture, the Pilgrims' March, Wolfram's ballad and the duet with Elizabeth, all the rest of the score of that production of genius was either hissed or laughed down. The Princess de Metternich, wife of the Austrian Ambassador, was so disgusted at the opposition, that she addressed a very unlady-like epithet to the spectators and broke her fan to atoms with rage. After the third representation, the police interfered. It was not exactly the scientific music that provoked the opposition, but the omission of the ballet, and in its stead, introducing a pack of dogs. Wagner never forgave this reception, and during the war of 1870-71 he published the most violent diatribes against France. Many patriots now forget these attacks in admiration for the composer. He was a revolutionist in his day, as in 1849 he proposed to burn the Dresden royal palace. Rossini hated Wagner's compositions, and kept the score of Tannhauser open but upside down, on a piano to enable him to remark, "I tried it the other way and failed, now I intend essaying the second plan."

But a death positively tragical, and which points a moral while adorning a tale, is that of the Duchesse de Chaulnes, neé Sophie Galitzin, a Russian princess. Since she was fourteen years of age, I had many opportunities of seeing her while she was living at Versailles, and when she came to Paris several times a week to complete her education. She was the observed of all observers, "looked a goddess and moved a queen." Her beauty was her fortune, and she was selected by the Duchesse de Chevreusse on that account as the wife for her son. He was boyish, consumptive, ascetic; she was all for gaiety and society; result an ill-matched pair. Shut up in a castle with such a husband and his mother, she soon fell a victim to suitors; she confessed having committed adultery, relinquished the guardianship of her children, and was sent into the wilderness. Last year she endeavored to abduct her children; she was indicted; the trial assumed a political character, but the law refused her, on account of her misconduct, the custody of her children. Outlawed by society, repudiated by her mother-in-law, estranged from her own mother, this fallen beauty of 24 asked a shelter from a former housemaid, whose husband is a railway employee; at their humble home, with only one-bed room in common, the Duchesse has just expired. Had the old servant refused to receive the duchess, the latter had resolved to drown herself in the Seine. I have seen powdered lackeys waiting on the young duchess, and royal princes happy to catch her smile. Sickness compelled the cutting off of her splendid hair; this she has bequeathed to her children. To be buried in her bridal dress and with her wedding ring, are the dying favors she begged of her mother-in-law, who belongs to one of the first families of France, and which have been refused. The deceased was born two centuries too late; her place was at the Court of Louis XIV. and to have her 'tabouret' among the pleiad of duchesses.

A Pole has been sentenced to two years imprisonment; he sent a threatening letter to 'Citizen' Grevy, in name of a Revolutionary Committee, calling upon him to resign.

At Lyons, a Prussian shot his mistress, then stabbed her, and to make sure hung her; next he hanged himself. The crime does not attract so much notice as the fact that the Prussian was an employé in the arsenal. Like the fly in amber, the question is how the d——l he got there.

Daudet continues to be in hot water respecting his last romance on religious hysteria, 'Evangeliste'. He disclaims having intended any attack either on Protestantism or the Salvation army.

The late Duc d'Orleans, whose manners were very unpretending, called to visit the painter Roqueplan; the concierge replied the artiste was at home, and asked the visitor to hand him a pair of pantaloons, as he was going up. The Duke at once executed the errand laughingly.

A Parisienne is the only lady who will raise her jupe when crossing a kennel free of water.

THE DUBLIN TRIALS.

CAREY THE INFORMER.

HIS ANTECEDENTS.

The dark revelations made in Kilmainham Courthouse on Saturday, by Town Councillor Carey, have caused an excitement little less than that experienced throughout Ireland when the news of the assassinations of Lord F Cavendish and M. Burke, the Chief and under Secretaries, became known on the 7th of May last. Carey is now execrated by Fenians and Land Leaguers. In November last he was the popular idol of one of the Municipal Wards of Dublin. Now, if he were permitted to leave Kilmainham Gaol without police protection, he would be torn to pieces by an infuriated people. Everybody recognises him as one of the prime movers in the Assassination Conspiracy—as one who has been the willing instrument to lead miserable wretches to crime and ruin, and as one who, finding himself going to the gallows as fast as the evidence of approvers and independent witnesses could take him, turns upon his comrades, and, placing the halter upon other necks, saves his own. The history of Ireland reveals a great number of extraordinary surprises in connection with the conflict between the Crown and revolutionists; but never before has such a thunderbolt fallen amongst the latter as that on Saturday. Carey was regarded as a man of the highest promise. He began with boldly coming forward and condemning the work of a Scotch contractor who had most influential friends in the city. He formed the Home Manufacturers' Association, and was appointed to preside over their deliberations. He was elected to the Town Council by a majority of 72 over the retiring councillor, and won a large number of friends by opposing an increase of salary to a Scotch official of the Corporation shortly after taking his seat at the Municipal Board. Town Councillor Carey three years ago was an humble working mason, but when arrested he was a pretty considerable owner of property, and was known by his former mates as Gentleman Carey, who lounged about with a cigar always in his mouth. The disclosures of Saturday from his own lips make it not difficult to discover the golden mine from which he reaped such benefit. The question now occupying the minds of all is, how was it that the Government came to accept Town Councillor Carey as an approver? On Thursday last Carey was in the dock shaking hands with the other prisoners, and openly expressing his contempt for the evidence brought against him. He was then regarded with the utmost respect by the other prisoners, and he shared their indignation when the carman, Kavanagh, in place of entering the dock with them, got into the witness-box and gave damning evidence against them. The respect for the man who before occupied the dock with them has changed to hatred and terror, which, as the report of the proceedings shows, found free expression. Between Thursday and Saturday the Crown accepted Carey as an informer. How was this brought about? Carey has a wife and family, who occupy a large house in Denzille-street, Dublin, which they let out in tenements. Up to Saturday the door contained a brass plate containing the words, "James Carey, T. C." in bold letters. This plate on Saturday, however, was hurriedly unscrewed and taken off. Immediately on her husband's arrest, Mrs. Carey disclaimed any knowledge of the Murder Conspiracy, and maintained that her husband had never acquainted her with any of the proceedings which have been now brought to light. This, however, was not believed, as one witness deposed that Mrs. Carey accompanied her husband into the loft where the police discovered two knives which belonged to ten supplied to the Irish Invincibles for the work of assassination. During the last week Mrs. Carey was observed to make frequent visits to Dublin Castle, where she had interviews with prominent officials, and the only inference to be drawn from this is, that she acquainted the Crown with the important testimony that could be given by her husband, and the authorities, hoping to connect with the conspiracy persons of prominent position, resolved, after much consideration, to accept Carey as a witness. The Lord Lieutenant, Earl Spencer, was consulted on the matter, and he, after some hesitation, fell in with the views of the Crown counsel. This may be accepted as the true explanation of Saturday's surprise. It was readily seen that Carey's new position would provoke great indignation against himself and his family, and shortly after the inquiries commenced at Kilmainham on Saturday a number of police and marines were marched down to Carey's house to protect Mrs. Carey and children form violence. No demonstration, however, was made, and at night the force of police were withdrawn, two marines, however, being left on guard. As previously mentioned, by the advice of the police, the brass plate on the door was removed, and people in the neighbourhood were asked to make inquiries from strangers for Carey's house. The implication of the Land League by Carey has produced quite a panic amongst the Land Leaguers, and great efforts are being made to make people believe that Carey's evidence is nothing but a clever concoction. His admission that when treasurer of the Assassination Society the funds were always low, is made a handle of for accusing him of appropriating the money for his own purposes. The property he now possesses they charge him with having purchased with blood-money; and there is, probably, a great deal in this, when it is remembered that but a short time ago he was a very poor man. There are a number of previous circumstances though not thought much of at the time, when taken with Carey's testimony on Saturday, which throw an important light on the working of the conspirators. Carey swore that he took a house in Cork-hill for the purpose of firing upon Earl Cowper from the window. That the police had some knowledge of this may be inferred from an incident which occurred in the neighbourhood a few weeks back. Nearly opposite the Castle entrance on Cork-hill is situated a public-house which commands a view of the narrow lane leading to the Detective Office. The police discovered that members of the conspiracy were in the habit of going into this public house, and from its window watching all the movements of the detectives during the day. To prevent the suspicions of the landlady being aroused, one man, after doing duty for a certain time, was followed by another, who strolled in and took his place. The police accordingly acquainted the landlady of what was going on, and a stop was put to it. The men were evidently watching the movements of Mr. Mallon, detective superintendent, whose assassination had been arranged. Carey's position as a Town Councillor gave him advantages which others concerned in the conspiracy did not possess. He profited by them, and actually succeeded in inducing a humble official in the Castle to go with him to Phœnix Park to point out to him the unfortunate Mr Burke. Carey threw himself heart and soul into the business, and his own house has often been the meeting-place of the conspirators. It is stated that the day after the Phœnix Park murders one of his tenants asked him for his opinion as to who committed the deed, and that his confused way of answering the question caused the tenant to suspect that he had a hand in it. On the very night when the news of the assassinations of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Mr Burke spread through the city, and an appalling horror seemed to take possession of all who heard the fearful story, a bonfire was got up opposite James Carey's house, and a crowd, of whom at least a dozen were men, danced round it, yelling and cheering, up to twelve o'clock. Contrary to the general opinion that Irishmen who join secret societies are lax if not infidel, in religious matters, Carey was a very devout Roman Catholic. He attended Mass daily at Westland-row Chapel, and was a leading member of a confraternity attached to that place.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP.

THE DINNERS, THE BALLS, THE SCHEMES AND SCANDALS OF THE CAPITAL.

Washington, January 26.

It is quite immaterial to New York readers what kind of weather we have in Washington, but nevertheless it has been so utterly wretched that a growl must be permitted. First came the snow. Then rain, rain, rain. Everything dripped for a week. The people who habitually turn night into day don't know and don't care whether the sun shines or not. In fact, they rather prefer a dismal day. But from the staid and sober part of the community, embracing as it always does the journalistic profession, the bad weather has provoked a long growl, a strong growl and a growl all together. The President gave a diplomatic dinner Wednesday night. Terrible affair, but reads well in the papers. Not a woman there was under forty-five, except Miss West, the daughter of the British Minister, and Miss Lucy Frelinghuysen, two well-mannered, conventional girls, who would not get off a witticism if they had all time and a part of eternity to do it in. "Dreadful tiresome," remarked a New England representative of one of these sedate parties. "No snap, no go, no anything, but thirteen courses. I guess I'd be very sick, if I were a diplomat, every time I got an invitation to a diplomatic dinner." Mrs McElroy, with the President, received the guests in the East Room. Mrs McElroy, being a woman of excellent sense, instead of the white satin décolleté with which Mrs Grant, Mrs Beale and a few other veterans adorn themselves, to the mirth of the irreverent, wore a handsome black satin with fine lace and looked like what she is—a gentle and refined woman. When the other old ladies trooped in dressed as sixteen-year-olds she must have appeared remarkably well. As for Mrs Grant's youthful dressing, it is not worth while to say another word about it. Only Mrs Blaine and Mrs Chandler quite outdo her in the girlish frivolity of their clothes. Mrs Frelinghuysen does not adopt a kittenish style of dress and so does tolerably well, but as a rule the costumes of the wives of the high officials here make one laugh until one cries. Well, at the diplomatic dinner the big-wigs were out in great force and enjoyed their dinner with conscientious appreciation of the gastronomic artist who prepared it. The President was, as always, a graceful and attentive host, but it would be as perfectly safe to bet that he was glad when it was over as that Mr Walcott will win in the contest now pending at Gabe Case's.

The Spanish Minister gave a crush party on Tuesday night, as did General Beale in honor of the California Crockers, and Justice Wood a housewarming in his new home, formerly the Japanese Legation. They were all exactly alike. Ball-giving is not much in the line of the Supreme Court dignitaries. The Supreme Court dinners are said to be the best given in town. The old gentlemen meet to exchange solemn gossip and solemner jokes. They drink chiefly port and sherry, and as for champagne, hock and liqueurs, they regard them as vinous frivolities. Washington is perhaps the greatest dinner-giving spot on the globe, and this winter it seems to have surpassed itself. The Charity Ball, which is a determined imitation of the New York Charity Ball, comes off on Monday night. Does anybody ever, I wonder, sit down and reflect what social stepping-stones the fashionable charities are. There are about half a dozen women in Washington whose names are at the head of everything charitable that is fashionable. They are snobs of the first magnitude, and they do not mind paying handsomely for the privilege of having their names in the papers alongside of women of really good standing—and actually through this loophole they have squeezed themselves into good society. O charity, what frauds are committed in thy name!

There was a woman, however, recently dead, who was the scourge of the Washington snobocracy. One of the leaders of ton here was the daughter of a French cook, but, having worked her way successfully to the top round of the social ladder, was of course rabidly aristocratic and violently exclusive. Talking to the snob-scourge one day this lady forgot the lamented "chef de cuisine," her father, and complained feelingly of the mixture of classes in society, against which she said "a line must be drawn somewhere." "Would you make it a sir-line or a tender-line?" sweetly inquired the exasperating snob-scourge. History does not record the answer made to this heartless allusion.

Governor Butler has been here, and called on the President. He also wrote a letter to Miss Susan B Anthony, who is here running the Woman's Rights' Convention. Nothing sentimental in the letter. She read it right out aloud in the full meeting. There is not a word of truth in the report that—fie, fie, fie! it's all platonic. Like Mrs Gamp, the Governor denies of it.

We are not unduly stirred up by the advent of semi-royalty in the person of John Campbell, Marquis of Lorne. Besides the dinners given him by Mr Sackville West and the President, General Sherman will give a dinner of eighteen covers to him to-morrow evening. The President will be present. The Duke of Argyll entertained General Sherman when he was last in Europe, so the General is in for it and can't help himself.

The Chinese Minister gives a party on Saturday night. The Minister is not a very hilarious person to go down to dinner with, as Chinese etiquette forbids his addressing a word to anybody while at the dinner-table. He is always accompanied by his interpreter, who is his first Secretary of Legation, and converses in drawing-rooms through him. Ex-Collector Tom Murphy is in town. He swears and declares that he is not here for the purpose of using the political grindstone —he is "looking after personal affairs," but that assertion carries suspicion in its very wording. He has not been seen at the White House, but everybody that goes to the White House does not go in by the front entrance in broad daylight.

The Rev. Edward Everett Hale has been in town for a week or two, and has received much attention. Dr. Loring gave him an Old Colony Plymouth Rock dinner, and the Bostonians have been feasting him on canvas-back ducks and terrapins. The Rev Edward, who is tall and clever, though not a beauty exactly, enjoys it as any other stall-fed ecclesiastic would.

That lost Pleiad, James Gillespie Blaine, has kept uncommonly quiet of late. What is he up to? Going to found another South American republic, people think.

The bill introduced by Mr. Richelieu Robinson, providing the granddaughter of Jefferson with a pension of $400 a month—a ridiculously large sum for an old lady of simple tastes—will probably be passed as soon as Mr. Robinson comes down to the solid bed-rock of common sense in regard to the amount. The lady, Mrs Septimia Randolph Meikleham, lives in Georgetown, and is a very stately and interesting antique.

Don Cameron has a dog; it is the biggest, fiercest, ugliest dog in town. It can bark louder and oftener and more continuously than any canine since old Grimes's dog. Don keeps it chained in front of his house on Scott circle, and when it begins its nightly howl it can be heard from Georgetown to the Capitol. There is also a post-office box on the lamp in front of Don Cameron's house. The dog thinks he is kept there to frighten intruders away from the letter box, and that people who put letters in the box are trying to steal the lamp-post. To go near it after dark is like entering a wild beasts' den. The dog howls and yowls and rattles his chain and grinds his teeth and utters the most frightful yelps, and keeps Senator Pendleton—next door—awake, and affects Senator Windom's nerve—across the way—and puts Mr Robeson at the other end of the block in a perfect fury—and still the dog keeps it up. Perhaps Mr. Cameron is afraid that some of his neighbours will steal his porte-cochère, which he regards with affectionate pride. At all events, I wish that dog was in the dog heaven.—New York World.

WILBERFORCE AND WESTBURY

SOME OF THE SHARP SAYINGS BY THE BISHOP OF OXFORD ABOUT AND TO THE CHANCELLOR.

In Bishop Wilberforce's "Diary and Letters," which has already been noticed in The World, there is—naturally—a good deal about Lord Westbury. In a letter to Dr. Colenso occurs the vigorous expression 'a Westbury lie." Dr Wilberforce never forgave the Chancellor for the famous attack in the House of Lords, when he thus described a document of which the Bishop was known to be the chief author: "The judgment is simply a series of well-lubricated terms—a sentence so oily and saponaceous that no one could grasp it—like an eel it slips through your fingers and is simply nothing." The sting of the attack lay in the epithet "saponaceous." The Bishop was often called "Soapy Sam," chiefly, no doubt, because, as he said himself, he was often in hot water and always came out with clean hands. But the word was sometimes taken in another and a less favourable sense, as in the case of a gentleman of whom it is recorded that he once spoke and voted against his known convictions. A friend remonstrated with him, and said: "I always thought you were a very conscientious man." "Oh! yes," he replied, "and so I hope I am, but I should like to see the corner I could not get my conscience round." Shortly after his downfall and resignation in 1865, the ex-Chancellor sought a reconciliation with the Bishop in the House of Lords. Proffering his hand, which was at once accepted, he said: "Do you remember where we last met? It was in the hour of my humiliation, when I was leaving the Queen's Closet, having given up the Great Seal. I met you on the stairs as I was coming out, and I felt inclined to say: Hast thou found me, O mine enemy?'" The Bishop in telling the story used to say: "I never was so tempted in my life as I was then to finish the quotation, but by a great effort I kept it down and said: 'Does your Lordship remember the end of the quotation?'" "We lawyers, my Lord Bishop," was the reply, "are not in the habit of quoting part of a passage without knowing the whole." ("Yea, I have found thee, because thou hast sold thyself to work iniquity," is the remainder of the quotation.) When in 1870 Dr Wilberforce was interested in a bill for enabling clergymen to resign their livings when incapacitated by age or infirmity, he sent the draft to Lord Westbury, inviting his council and support. Lord Westbury said he would cordially support the bill, but added that he perceived the Bishop referred to 'diseases of the mind.' This, he said, was a difficulty, because in the first place there could be no such thing as disease of the mind; and, secondly, if there were, he never yet met a clergyman, "with the exception of your Lordship, who had a mind." Lord Westbury, by a strange coincidence, died on the same day as Bishop Wilberforce. It is pleasant to observe that the allusion to him in the Bishop's diary is a pleasant one. Sir William Erle 'told me a story of Lord Westbury, who said to him: 'My dear fellow, why do not you attend the Privy Council?' 'Oh. because I am old and deaf and stupid.' 'But that's no reason at all, for I am old, and William is deaf, and Colonsay is stupid, and yet we make an excellent Court of Appeal.'" On one occasion, when Miss Coutts said to Dr Wilberforce, as they were driving through the city, 'I dare say, Bishop, you do not know the meaning of a drysalter?' 'Oh, yes,' he replied, 'I do: Tate and Brady.' To a challenge to put 'hearse' into Latin, 'Oh, that is very easy,' said the Bishop, 'mors omnibus.' This witticism has been attributed to Lord Chelmsford, whose brilliancy in this vein is attested by his celebrated rendering of 'splendide mendax'—'lying in state.' The conversation turned upon some clergyman in his own diocese, well known to the Bishop and Mr Burden, and the latter said laughingly: 'Well, but, my Lord, after all, he is a very sound man!' 'He is, indeed with a vengeance,' said the Bishop, 'if you mean vox et præterea nihil.' During a trial Lord Chancellor Campbell was reading some French evidence—the story is given on the authority of the late Lord Derby. "How he murders it!' said Blackburn. 'No,' was Lord Chelmsford's reply, 'he is only 'scotching' it!' Bishop Wilberforce finally gives two little anecdotes about the wives of two great Englishmen: Mrs Disraeli told the Queen: 'When Disraeli has a sore throat I cure him by putting my arm round his throat and keeping it round all night;' while the wife of Lord John Russell evidently shared the popular estimate of a character less remarkable for discretion than for intrepidity. 'I always come down with him to the House, to look after him and see that no one else talks him over from what I have told him to say.'—New York World.

THE KEELY MOTOR.

The mystery attached to this new Motor, from which such astounding things were expected, and which has occupied the North American Press for years, is at last divulged as follows by a leading New York paper:—

"The announcement of a speedy trial of the Keely motor has been received with enthusiasm throughout the country. Every one is on tiptoe craning his neck to catch the first sight of the prodigious rush when the engine starts. Before that happens it may be proper to notice, briefly and as calmly as possible, an unworthy report which reaches us from Philadelphia to the effect that the Keely Motor Company is really a club of jolly young fellows whose only purpose in life is to have what they call a high old time. The reports of their meetings, it is said, are worded in such a way as to mystify the public. For instance, at the one held last Wednesday the expert declared that the secret power was water disintegrated by vibratory action and so converted into an expansive gas or vapor. In plain English, we are told, this means hot whiskey punch, the vibratory motion being communicated by the spoon which stirs up the ingredients, and the gas or vapor being the grateful smell which rises to the nostrils. It must be confessed that this theory would serve to explain the unshaken confidence of the stockholders in Mr Keely, who presumably brews the punch.

EDITOR'S TABL

Ladies and Gentlemen. You won't see the Standard again till Easter Sunday. "Au revoir."

The rain on Tuesday night was a mockery, a delusion and a snare. Yesterday was hot enough, and, but for a nice fresh breeze, would have been unpleasantly so. There is as yet no sign of a decided break in the weather.

Cherubini's immortal Requiem (second only to Mozart's), will be repeated by the German Singing Academy on Saturday night. We strongly recommend our friends, countrymen, and lovers of exquisite classical music, faultlessly performed, to go and hear it. Such music, so performed, is worth a dozen Lenten Sermons. The "Dies Iræ" and "Agnus Dei" are worth going 500 miles to hear. Only our German friends can give us such sublime music here.

We are requested by the Committee of the B. Aires Rowing Club to advise members that arrangements have been made with the Northern Railway Company, for the 12 o'clock train which usually goes as far as San Fernando, to go on to the Tigre, thus passengers by this train will be in time to attend the boat and swimming races to-day.

We won't bore our readers with the Police Regulations for to-day and to-morrow. Everyone in town knows them by heart—No bells on the tram horses; no horsemen in the streets; young 'gents' and old gentlemen requested not to crowd about the church doors, or ogle the girls, etc., etc. Judging from the crowds at all the churches yesterday, the solemnities of the remaining days of the week promise to be very largely attended.

Mr. William Martin expects the largest house he has ever had on Wednesday next, as everybody is now anxious to give the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals a lift, knowing that its shortcomings have been caused by want of Funds. Our High Life has taken the cause in hand, and the audience will most certainly be a 'creamy' one. The programme is splendid. We all know how laughable "Whitebait at Greenwich is, and "Como Pez en el Agua" is not a whit behind it in fun. The concert will astonish the audience. Go by all means.

There is some very hard swearing going on about the brush at Lonquimay. The Chilian version is so diametrically opposed to the Argentine, that one side or the other must be 'cramming' the public. Time will tell.

The telegrams say that the heat in Montevideo on Tuesday was intolerable. The rumpus about the financial Bills has put everybody down there in a fever, quite irrespective of the state of the thermometer.

Our Latin pun yesterday floored our classical subscribers; even the scholars on the Bolsa could making nothing of it. Here's the answer

Take my over-alls to the tail-or to be men-de(a)d.

Simple as A. B. C! We'll give the classical public one chance more with the following, and if it is not translated into flowing English or Castillian before noon on Saturday, our faith in the classical knowledge of our Bolsa friends will be sorely shaken.

Meus homo voluntas ego sum cucurrit suum caput jus contra hominem dic pacem.

Our colleagues are making a Constitutional question of the strained relations existing between the Lord Mayor and the Lotteries. The patience of Lot (he was almost as patient as Job) would be exhausted by a perusal of one half the elaborate articles on the subject. One would think that the 'patria' was in danger.

The watch of the late ill-fated Emperor Maximilian of Mexico was offered for sale the other day to M. Artigue, the well-known jeweller in Calle Florida, who, suspecting some fraud, called in the police; but, on investigation, everything proved fair and straight, and the watch to be really that of the unfortunate monarch. What a comment on the mutability of human affairs, to find such an Imperial relic hawked about in a South American city!

Those Infant Wonders, the Lambertini Children, will make their debut in the National Theatre in the beginning of April. There are three of them—Luigia, Luigi and Achille, all fine handsome children.

We much regret to hear that Mr Charles Lumb is confined to his house by illness, and join his many friends in wishing him a speedy recovery.

The Municipal Theatre in Lima has been burned to the ground. One life lost and many people injured.

We have not yet seen any order from the Municipality or the Police prohibiting the Judas nuisance and the discharge of fire arms and fireworks on Saturday next. Somebody will be killed or wounded, but, of course, that's a mere nothing.

France is going into the wooden nutmeg trade, or something very like it. Artificial truffles are now made in Paris, for export to America!! 'Mille remerciments!' These delectable truffles are made of potatoes, salt of iron, and tar!

We commend the following story from Paris to our dentist subscribers: "What on earth makes you announce that you extract teeth without pain? Didn't I hear every patient you had up here yell!"

"You did, sir," replies the dentist, "but those were shrieks of joy which they uttered, sir! They were so delighted, sir, at being painlessly relieved that they could not restrain their enthusiasm!"

All hopes of any export of maize this year may be given up. The drought has destroyed one half the vast crop sown.

The religious procession from Santo Domingo church on Wednesday was dispersed by Jupiter Pluvius, and everybody in it was wet to the skin. The Police "banda de musica" were the first to "make tracks."

Some ghosts paid a visit to an almacen in Calle Europa the other night and did more damage than the fiercest bull that ever danced through a china shop. Suddenly all the doors flew open of their own accord, a rattling of chains was heard, and bottles, boxes, biscuits and 'bacalao,' tea and tripe, hams and herrings, oil, gin and cheese, bacon and sardines, were all hurled about in immortal smash. The 'almacenero' could see nothing, and he and his assistants fled in terror. The police should look up the ghosts.

Our invaluable colleague the Cincinnati Drummer is responsible for the following:—"A great philosopher, once upon a time, while walking along in profound thought, fell into a well, and it shook him up so that he didn't know exactly whether he had gone through a threshing machine or had been let into the house at 3 a.m. by his waiting wife. When he had been pulled out he was asked by his rescuers if he were much hurt. 'Well, my friends,' he remarked as he took his grappling hooks from the suburbs of his trousers, "I have found that it is better for the memory to have a distinct idea of one fact of a great subject than to have confused ideas of the hole." He was pronounced safe.

At the marriage of Mlle. Tourreil, daughter of the wealthy stockbroker, with M. Saglio, which was celebrated at the Trinité, in Paris, the great baritone Faure sang three pieces for which he received the sum of 4,000 francs. An ingenious arithmetician calculated that each note cost 10 francs.

Bahia Blanca is going ahead like an express train. A Comision de Immigracion is now established there. A resident writes that he bought a wretched little 'quinta pelada' in the town a few months ago for 10,000 m/c, and he sternly refused a pressing offer of 50,000 m/c for it the other day.

Mr. George Mackern of Calle San Martin has now on sale a magnificent map of Santa Fé province, and every-one who is interested in that part of the republic should buy one. It is beyond all comparison the finest map ever turned out in this country.

Patacon	25.01
Cedulas A	100¼
Cedulas E	86½
National Bank Shares	103½

The tight features of the money market are becoming more accentuated; the restriction of discounts is affecting the exchange market and rates looking weaker. The gold market is at a stand-still; some insignificant operations are reported at one cent premium. It was rumored in the market that the Board of the National Bank had abandoned the idea of drawing for the £400,000 of the loan stipulated. It appears that the Board will not draw until it can do so for the entire amount of the loan. Many contradict the rumor.

Cedulas ruled more active this morning and operations during official hours amounted to $273,000. Series A is quoted firm at 100¼; 25,000 changed hands for cash at this rate. Over 40,000 Series E were sold for cash; the market opened at 86⅛, but rates improved and closed at 86½. Operations for the end of the month comprised 138,000 of Series E; rates opened at 86¼ and closed at 86½. The rates for cash and for the end of the month are identical and form the chief feature of the market; meantime, Series E is passed over to next month at ½ o/o, which shews more or less the state of the market and the feeling of the speculation in the stock. Sixty thousand Series E were sold for the end of April at 86¾, and 10,000 for the end of May at 87¼. The activity in the market is greater than usual, and the stock rules firm in spite of the large amounts thrown on the market; the bulls ... elements to fall back on, and many ... entering the market. ... was approved. This dividend is payable on the 1st of May next. Several gentlemen were named new directors on the Board. Lower down will be found the balance-sheet of this most prosperous Gas Company; its shares are now quoted in the market at par.

Fourteen fine Lincoln rams have arrived, consigned to Mr. T. Getting. These rams are on view in Messrs. Baltar and Quesada's auction mart; they are worth seeing, and we recommend them to sheepfarmers.

During Mr. W. Pacheco's absence, Mr. Saguier will act as President of the National Bank.

Telegrams received to-day announce the departure of the steamers Iona and Troth from England for the Boca with cargoes of railway materials for the Transandine Railway. There are now over 7,000 tons of railway material lying along the track of the Western Railway, and with the exception of the earthworks, all other works on the new line are at a stand-still. The earthworks reach Chacabuco.

The Concessionaires of the Transandine Railway held a conference with Governor Rocha to-day to settle the junction of the Transandine with that of the Western Railway. It is sincerely to be hoped that Governor Rocha will put a stop to the present undignified proceedings which arrest the progress of one of the most promising railways of this country.

The fine Chargeurs Reunis ss. Paraná leaves on the 31st inst., direct for Havre, without touching Brazilian ports, with the following cargo:—

2,000 bags cereals.
She completes her cargo in Montevideo. The Paraná is a splendid new steamer specially fitted out for passenger accommodation, combining with comfort and an excellent 'cuisine.' All the latest improvements applied to passenger boats.

The estancieros of the partido of Rojas have drawn up a petition for a branch of the Provincial Bank. Over 200 names are appended to the request. The Provincial Bank should have branches in all the camp towns of this Province. The want of same is very much felt.

The Toro left Bahia Blanca yesterday crowded with passengers. It rained heavily in Bahia Blanca on Monday night.

Telegrams from Lincoln announce hail and rain on Monday night; plantations suffered somewhat, but the rain has done camps much good.

Advices from the rural districts announce that it has rained in Tandil, Pergamino, Rojas, Bragado, Salto and Mercedes.

The following sales of produce are announced:—

With regard to the allotment of new Bolsa Shares, 71 o/o of the applications will be distributed. The first call on these shares will be immediately made.

The receipts of the Custom House for the month already exceed one million patacons.

Everybody in the market is talking of Dr. Bustillos's letter to the editor of La Nacion. This gentleman, who is the representative of the company that enjoys the Buenos Aires Pacific Railway concession, has put matters into a nut-shell; in a clear, frank and concise manner he explains the many delays on the works of the Transandine Railway and throws all the odium of such a niggardly state of affairs on Mr. Jorge, the President of the Board of the Western Railway. The President of the Western Railway is placed in a dilemma and he must resort to the columns of the press to refute statements that place him in a most regrettable position. Friends of Mr. Jorge cannot believe for a moment that individual spite or wounded "amour propre" could so far sway his acts as to become obstacles in the way of a railway company of such important considerations as to interfere with the interests of the public. Who could believe that an Argentine ever stated that the Transandine Railway was a chimera; that the rich Cuyo provinces could only forward a case of raisins and a barrel of olives to this market? Mr. Jorge must come forward and refute statements that not only place him, to say the least, in a very ridiculous light, but also affect his reputation as a patriot desirous of the weal of his country, and as a clear-headed man at the head of the finest railway in South America. This question at present looks something like a "tantaene iræ" irascibility in railway circles.

were confirmed. They authorized the writing off of £349,550 capital, which had been lost or was unrepresented by available assets, reducing the capital from £1,398,200, in £20 shares, to £1,048,650, in £15 shares, and empowered the directors to appoint a managing director, who might be a member of the Board, but not subject to retirement by rotation. Mr. Pike then referred to the services rendered by the directors in the late litigation, and moved a resolution requesting them to accept 700 of the shares which had been acquired as part of settlement, as a recognition by the shareholders of the successful result of the labours of the Board. Mr. Sutton seconded the motion, observing that by the diligence of the directors £150,000 had been recovered for the company. Mr. Godfrey opposed the motion, stating that the shareholders had had no dividend for the last four or five years, and that the market value of the shares was at more than 60 o/o discount. He also contended that the directors had done no more than their duty. Mr. Gadesden also opposed the motion, arguing that the real work in connexion with the litigation had been performed by solicitors, counsel, the officers, and others. He moved an amendment to the effect that the number of shares to be given to the directors should be 350. The chairman put the amendment, and declared it lost, and afterwards submitted the resolution, which he declared won, 18 having voted for it, and 14 against it."

"Nothing", says the Chicago Tribune, "could be more naive than the frankness with which an agent of the pine lumber millionaires explained to one of our reporters that he desired Congress to legislate so as to keep up high prices for their lumber and lumber lands. This is 'protection' in a nutshell. A half-dozen timber syndicates against 52,000,000 wood consumers. Just to give a healthy shock to these would-be lumber monopolists they should be informed that the people not only deny their right to have tax laws passed for their special benefit, but deny their right to cut their own wood on their own lands as they are now doing. In denuding the soil of foliage and shade, these lumbermen, in their too great haste to be rich, are underwining the future prosperity of the country. They have no right to abuse their ownership of vast tracts of primeval forest by using it to destroy the welfare of the community which gives them their title and defends it for them. When public opinion is once roused to an intelligent activity on this question, it will put these lumber skinners under the supervision of a timber police."

Dysentery, Cholera Fever, Ague, Coughs, Colds, &c.

Dr J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne
(Ex Army Medical Staff)
IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE

CAUTION—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood stated that Dr J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, being the inventor was deliberately untrue, which he regret ted had been sworn to. Eminent hospital physicians of London stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the discoverer of Chlorodyne; that they prescribe it largely, and mean no other than Dr Browne's—See Times, July 12th 1864.

The Public, therefore, are cautioned against using any other than

Dr J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.
REMEDIAL USES AND ACTION.

This invaluable remedy produces quiet, refreshing sleep, relieves pain, calms the system, restores the deranged functions, and stimulates health action of the secretions of the body, without creating any of those unpleasant results attending the use of opium. Old and young may take it all hours and times when requisite. Thousands of persons testify to its marvellous good effects and wonderful cures, while medical men extol its virtues most extensively.

CHLORODYNE is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for coughs, consumption, bronchitis, asthma.

CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests too often fatal diseases Diphtheria Fever, Crup, Ague.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charming Diarrhoea, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation and Spasms.

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hall, Simla, Jan. 5th 1880. To J. T. Davenport, Esq., 33, Great Russell Street, Bloomsbury, London—"Dear Sir, we embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the wide-spread reputation this justly-esteemed medicine, DR COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan, but all over the East. As a remedy of general utility, we much question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are happy to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and, judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances ad infinitum of the extraordinary efficacy of DR. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE in Diarrhoea, and Dysentery, Spasms, Cramps, Neuralgia, the Vomitting of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative, that have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Choleratic Diarrhoea, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's, from a firm conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's is a "deliberate breach of faith on the part of the chemist to prescriber and patient alike." We are, Sir, faithfully yours, Symes & Co., Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain, His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists."

Extract from the General Board of Health, London, as to its efficacy in Cholera—"So strongly are we convinced of the immense value of this remedy that we cannot too forcibly urge the necessity of adopting it in all classes."

CAUTION—None genuine without the words 'Dr J. Collis Browne or the Government Stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies eacl bottle.
